TO COUNTY ASSESSORS, INTERESTED PARTIES, AND CLERKS OF THE COUNTY BOARDS:

PROPOSED PROPERTY TAX RULE 462.520

The State Board of Equalization (BOE) staff has initiated a project to add new Property Tax Rule (Rule) 462.520, Exclusion from Change in Ownership—Intergenerational Transfers, relative to the changes made to the parent-child and grandparent-grandchild exclusions under the provisions of section 2.1 of article XIII A of the California Constitution. Enclosed is a draft of the new proposed rule.

On November 3, 2020, the voters of California approved Proposition 19, which added section 2.1 to article XIII A of the California Constitution. Section 2.1(c) and (e) create a new exclusion from change in ownership for transfers of family homes or family farms between parents and children and, under certain circumstances, between grandparents and grandchildren. This new exclusion became operative on February 16, 2021, and is referred to as the "intergenerational transfer exclusion." Pursuant to the changes enacted by section 2.1(c) and (e), the BOE proposes to add new Rule 462.520 to clarify the application of the new intergenerational exclusion.

Interested parties are encouraged to participate in the rulemaking process for the above rule. Suggested revisions to the draft, in the form of alternative text, should be provided to Glenna Schultz at glenna.schultz@boe.ca.gov or mailed to the above address by Friday, April 2, 2021.

Upon reviewing the submitted suggestions, it is anticipated that this project will proceed as follows:

- If necessary, staff will meet with interested parties to discuss the language for the rule.
- The Board Members will hear presentations on issues regarding the language for the rule and vote to place the rule into the formal rulemaking process.

RULE 462.520. EXCLUSION FROM CHANGE IN OWNERSHIP – INTERGENERATIONAL TRANSFERS.

Authority: Section 15606, Government Code.

References: Article XIII A, Section 2.1, California Constitution; and Section 60, Revenue and Taxation Code.

(a) General. Beginning on and after February 16, 2021, "change in ownership" shall not include the transfer of real property which is the principal residence or the family farm of an eligible transferor in the case of transfers between parents and their children or between grandparents and their grandchildren, meeting the following conditions:

(1) The principal residence or family farm of the transferor must become the principal residence or the family farm of at least one eligible transferee within one year of the transfer.

(A) If the transfer is of a principal residence, an eligible transferee must file a claim for the homeowners' or disabled veterans' exemption at the time of the transfer or within one year of the transfer.

(B) If the transfer is of a family farm, an eligible transferee need not file a claim for either the homeowners' or disabled veterans' exemption. A family farm is not required to include a principal residence to qualify for this exclusion.

(C) A claim for exclusion under this section may be filed separately for a principal residence on a family farm if that principal residence meets all the requirements of this section.

(2) The real property must continue to be the principal residence or the family farm of an eligible transferee. As of the date the property is no longer the principal residence or the family farm of an eligible transferee, the exclusion shall be removed and the taxable value of the property shall be determined pursuant to subdivision (d) of this rule. However, if another eligible transferee qualifies for the exclusion within one year, the exclusion shall not be removed.

(3) In the case of transfers between grandparents and grandchildren, all of the parents of those grandchildren, who qualify as children of the grandparents, are deceased as of the date of the transfer, except that a son-in-law or daughter-in-law of the grandparent who is a stepparent to the grandchild need not be deceased on the date of the transfer.

(4) A claim for the exclusion sought pursuant to this section is filed with the county assessor in accordance with subdivision (f) of this rule. An assessor may request any other information reasonably related to the claim they deem necessary to verify the exclusion.

(5) Nothing in this section limits the number of principal residences or family farms of a transferor that may be transferred to an eligible transferee and excluded from change in ownership.

(b) Valuation.

(1) Upon transfer, the principal residence or family farm obtains a new base year value equal to its full cash value on the date of transfer multiplied by the percent ownership of the principal residence or family farm transferred plus the factored base year value of the percent ownership of the principal residence or family farm not transferred.

(2) If a transferee meets the requirements for exclusion under this section, the principal residence or family farm will be assessed at its New Taxable Value in accordance with subdivision (c) of this rule rather than its new base year value.

(3) When the real property is no longer the principal residence or the family farm of an eligible transferee as required by subdivision (a)(2) of this rule, the new taxable value upon removal of the exclusion shall be determined pursuant to subdivision (d) of this rule.

Example 1: Parent transfers 100 percent interest in their principal residence to Child. On March 1, 2021, the date of transfer, the principal residence has a factored base year value of $250,000 and a full cash value of $900,000. The principal residence's new base year value is $900,000. If Child meets the requirements for exclusion under this section, the principal residence will be assessed at its New Taxable Value, in accordance with subdivision (c) of this rule, rather than its new base year value.

Example 2: Parent transfers 75 percent interest in their principal residence to Child and retains 25 percent interest. On March 1, 2021, the date of transfer, the principal residence has a factored base year value of $250,000 and a full cash value of $900,000. The principal residence's new base year value is $675,000 ($900,000 full cash value multiplied by the 75 percent interest transferred to Child) plus $62,500 ($250,000 factored base year value multiplied by the 25 percent interest retained by Parent) equals $737,500. If Child meets the requirements for exclusion under this section, the principal residence will be assessed at its New Taxable Value, in accordance with subdivision (c) of this rule, rather than its new base year value.

(c) New Taxable Value. The New Taxable Value of the principal residence or family farm shall be the sum of the amounts calculated in paragraphs (1) through (3):

(1) Eligible Transferee's New Taxable Value: the sum of the factored base year value of the principal residence or family farm immediately prior to the date of transfer plus any Excess Amount. This amount shall be multiplied by the percent interest of the principal residence or family farm transferred to eligible transferees.

(A) "Excess Amount" means the full cash value of the principal residence or family farm on the date of transfer minus the Excluded Amount. If this amount is less than or equal to zero, the Excess Amount is zero.

(B) "Excluded Amount" means the factored base year value of the principal residence or family farm immediately prior to the date of transfer plus $1,000,000, adjusted pursuant to subdivision (g) of this rule.

(2) Noneligible Transferee's New Taxable Value: the full cash value of the principal residence or family farm on the date of transfer multiplied by the percent interest transferred to noneligible transferees.

(3) Factored Base Year Value of Non-Transferred Interest: the factored base year value of the principal residence or family farm immediately prior to the date of transfer multiplied by the percent interest not transferred.

(4) The New Taxable Value shall be adjusted by an inflation factor, as provided in subdivision (a) of section 51 of the Revenue and Taxation Code.

Example 3: On March 1, 2021, Parents' principal residence has a factored base year value of $250,000. The Excluded Amount is $1,250,000 ($1,000,000 plus $250,000 factored base year value). Parents transfer 100 percent interest in their principal residence to Child on March 1, 2021.

Examples 3-1 and 3-2 demonstrate alternatives using the facts described in Example 3.

Example 3-1: The principal residence has a full cash value of $900,000 on the date of transfer. Since $900,000 is less than the $1,250,000 Excluded Amount, the Excess Amount is zero. Therefore, the New Taxable Value on the date of transfer is the factored base year value of $250,000.

Example 3-2: The principal residence has a full cash value of $1,300,000 on the date of transfer. Since the full cash value of the principal residence ($1,300,000) is greater than the $1,250,000 Excluded Amount, there is an Excess Amount of $50,000. Therefore, the New Taxable Value of the principal residence on the date of transfer is $300,000 ($250,000 factored base year value plus $50,000 Excess Amount).

Example 4: On March 1, 2021, Parents' principal residence has a factored base year value of $250,000. The Excluded Amount is $1,250,000 ($1,000,000 plus $250,000 factored base year value). Parents transfer 75 percent interest in their principal residence to Child and the remaining 25 percent interest to Nephew on March 1, 2021.

Examples 4-1 and 4-2 demonstrate alternatives using the facts described in Example 4.

Example 4-1: The principal residence has a full cash value of $900,000 on the date of transfer. Since $900,000 is less than the $1,250,000 Excluded Amount, the Excess Amount is zero. Therefore, the Eligible Transferee's New Taxable Value on the date of transfer is $187,500 ($250,000 factored base year value multiplied by the 75 percent interest transferred to Child). Since 25 percent of the principal residence is transferred to Nephew, a non-eligible transferee, the Noneligible Transferee's New Taxable Value is $225,000 ($900,000 full cash value multiplied by the 25 percent interest transferred to Nephew). Thus, the New Taxable Value of the principal residence is $412,500 ($187,500 plus $225,000).

Example 4-2: The principal residence has a full cash value of $1,300,000 on the date of transfer. Since $1,300,000 is greater than the $1,250,000 Excluded Amount, the Excess Amount is $50,000. Since 75 percent interest in the principal residence was transferred to Child, the Eligible Transferee's New Taxable Value is $225,000 ($250,000 factored base year value plus $50,000 Excess Amount, multiplied by Child's 75 percent interest). Since 25 percent interest in the principal residence was transferred to Nephew, a non-eligible transferee, the Noneligible Transferee's New Taxable Value is $325,000 ($1,300,000 full cash value multiplied by the 25 percent interest transferred to Nephew). Therefore, the New Taxable Value of the principal residence is $550,000 ($225,000 plus $325,000).

Example 5: On June 1, 2022, Mother's principal residence has a factored base year value of $320,000. The Excluded Amount is $1,320,000 ($1,000,000 plus $320,000 factored base year value). Mother's principal residence is owned 60 percent interest by Mother and 40 percent interest by Child. Mother transfers her 60 percent interest to Child. Child meets all intergenerational transfer exclusion requirements, and the exclusion is applied.

Examples 5-1 and 5-2 demonstrate alternatives using the facts described in Example 5.

Example 5-1: The full cash value of the principal residence is $1,100,000 on the date of transfer. Since the Excluded Amount ($1,320,000) is greater than the full cash value of the principal residence, the Excess Amount is zero. The Eligible Transferee's New Taxable Value on the date of transfer is $192,000 ($320,000 factored base year value multiplied by the 60 percent interest transferred to Child). Since 40 percent interest in the principal residence was already owned by Child and not transferred, the factored base year value of the Non-Transferred Interest is $128,000 ($320,000 factored base year value multiplied by the Child's 40 percent interest not transferred). Thus, the New Taxable Value of the principal residence is $320,000 ($192,000 plus $128,000).

Example 5-2: The full cash value of the principal residence is $1,500,000 on the date of transfer. Since the full cash value of the principal residence ($1,500,000) is greater than the $1,320,000 Excluded Amount, there is an Excess Amount of $180,000. Therefore, the Eligible Transferee's New Taxable Value is $300,000 ($320,000 factored base year value plus $180,000 Excess Amount, multiplied by the 60 percent interest transferred to Child). Since 40 percent interest in the principal residence was already owned by Child and not transferred, the factored base year value of the Non-Transferred Interest is $128,000 ($320,000 factored base year value multiplied by the Child's 40 percent interest not transferred). Therefore, the New Taxable Value of the principal residence is $428,000 ($300,000 plus $128,000).

Example 6: On June 1, 2022, Mother's principal residence has a factored base year value of $320,000 and a full cash value of $1,500,000. The Excluded Amount is $1,320,000 ($1,000,000 plus $320,000 factored base year value). The Excess Amount is $180,000. Mother's principal residence is owned 60 percent interest by Mother and 40 percent interest by Child. Mother transfers 30 percent interest of her 60 percent interest to Child and her remaining 30 percent interest to Niece. Child meets all intergenerational transfer exclusion requirements, and the exclusion is applied. The Eligible Transferee's New Taxable Value is $150,000 ($320,000 factored base year value plus $180,000 Excess Amount, multiplied by the 30 percent interest transferred to Child). Since 30 percent of the principal residence was transferred to Niece, a non-eligible transferee, the Noneligible Transferee's New Taxable Value is $450,000 ($1,500,000 full cash value multiplied by the 30 percent interest transferred to Niece). Since 40 percent interest in the principal residence was already owned by Child and not transferred, the factored base year value of the Non-Transferred Interests is $128,000 ($320,000 factored base year value multiplied by the Child's 40 percent interest not transferred). Therefore, the New Taxable Value of the principal residence is $728,000 ($150,000 plus $450,000 plus $128,000).

(d) Taxable Value Upon Exclusion Removal.

(1) When the real property is no longer the principal residence or the family farm of an eligible transferee as required by subdivision (a)(2) of this rule, the intergenerational transfer exclusion shall be removed from the property, and its new taxable value upon removal shall be the new base year value calculated pursuant to subdivision (b) of this rule, adjusted by an inflation factor, as provided in subdivision (a) of section 51 of the Revenue and Taxation Code through the year the exclusion is lost. This amount shall be further adjusted for any other necessary adjustment, including any part of the real property that changes ownership at the time the exclusion is lost, or that previously changed ownership, or that was newly constructed.

(2) Any portion of the real property not reassessed at the time of the removal of the exclusion shall not be subject to supplemental assessment.

Example 7: Parent transfers their principal residence 60 percent interest to Son and 40 percent interest to Daughter. On the date of transfer, the principal residence has a factored base year value of $150,000 and a full cash value of $800,000. Since 100 percent interest in the principal residence is transferred, the principal residence's new base year value as determined in subdivision (b) of this rule is $800,000. Son meets all intergenerational transfer exclusion requirements, and the exclusion is applied. The New Taxable Value of the principal residence, pursuant to subdivision (c) of this rule, at the time the exclusion is first applied is $150,000. Three years later, Son moves out of the principal residence and no longer qualifies for the exclusion. If the inflation factor was 2 percent each of the three years the property was Son's principal residence, the factored base year value of the principal residence at the time Son moves out is $159,181 ($150,000 multiplied by the 2 percent adjustment for 3 years).

Examples 7-1 through 7-4 demonstrate alternatives using the facts described in Example 7.

Example 7-1: Son and Daughter rent the property to a third party. As of the date the principal residence no longer qualifies for the homeowners' exemption, it no longer qualifies for the intergenerational transfer exclusion. Since 100 percent interest in the property is retained by former eligible transferees (Son and Daughter), the taxable value upon removal of the exclusion is the new base year value established at the time of the transfer ($800,000) adjusted by the inflation factor for three years. Since the inflation factor was 2 percent each of those three years, the new base year value factored for inflation upon removal of the exclusion is $848,966 ($800,000 multiplied by the 2 percent adjustment for 3 years).

Example 7-2: Instead of renting the property to a third party, Daughter moves in within one year of Son moving out (which is 3 years after the transfer from Parent) and meets all intergenerational transfer exclusion requirements. Since the property became the principal residence of another eligible transferee (Daughter) within one year, the intergenerational transfer exclusion is not removed. Therefore, the New Taxable Value, which is the factored base year value, of the principal residence remains at $159,181.

Example 7-3: Instead of renting the property to a third party, Daughter moves in within one year of Son moving out (which is 3 years after the transfer from Parent) and meets all intergenerational transfer exclusion requirements. At the time Son moves out, he sells his 60 percent interest to Daughter when the full cash value of the principal residence was $900,000. Although the property became the principal residence of another eligible transferee (Daughter) within one year, since 60 percent interest in the principal residence was transferred to Daughter by Son, 60 percent of the exclusion is removed and 60 percent interest in the principal residence is reassessed, since there is no exclusion from reassessment for transfers between siblings. Therefore, the New Taxable Value upon partial removal of the exclusion is $603,672, which is equal to the reassessed amount of $540,000 ($900,000 multiplied by the 60 percent interest sold to Daughter) plus Daughter's retained factored base year value of $63,672 ($159,181 multiplied by Daughter's 40 percent interest).

Example 7-4: Son sells his 60 percent interest to Daughter when the full cash value of the principal residence was $900,000. Daughter rents the property to a third party. Since 60 percent interest in the principal residence was transferred to Daughter by Son, 60 percent of the principal residence must be reassessed, since there is no exclusion from reassessment for transfers between siblings. Therefore, the reassessed amount is $540,000 ($900,000 full cash value multiplied by the 60 percent interest sold to Daughter). Additionally, Daughter's 40 percent interest no longer qualifies for the exclusion. However, Daughter's 40 percent interest is not subject to reassessment at this time, but instead becomes a portion (40 percent) of the new base year value that was established at the time of the original transfer ($900,000), adjusted by the inflation factor for three years, which was previously excluded from reassessment by the intergenerational transfer exclusion. Since the inflation factor was 2 percent each of those three years, that amount is $848,966 ($800,000 multiplied by the 2 percent adjustment for 3 years). $848,966 multiplied by the 40 percent interest in the real property retained by Daughter is equal to $339,586. Therefore, the new base year value upon partial reassessment and then removal of the remaining exclusion of the principal residence is $879,586 ($540,000 plus $339,586).

Example 8: Parent transfers their principal residence 50 percent interest to Son and 30 percent interest to Daughter, keeping the remaining 20 percent interest for themselves. On the date of transfer, the principal residence has a factored base year value of $150,000 and a full cash value of $800,000. Since 80 percent interest in the principal residence was transferred, the principal residence's new base year value as determined in subdivision (b) is $670,000 ($800,000 full cash value multiplied by the 80 percent interest transferred to Son and Daughter plus $150,000 factored base year value multiplied by the 20 percent interest retained by Parent). Son meets all intergenerational transfer exclusion requirements, and the exclusion is applied. The New Taxable Value of the principal residence, pursuant to subdivision (c), at the time the exclusion is first applied is the factored base year value of $150,000. Three years later, Son moves out of the principal residence. If the inflation factor was 2 percent each of those three years, the factored base year value of the principal residence is $159,181 ($150,000 multiplied by the 2 percent adjustment for 3 years). At the time Son moves out, he sells his 50 percent interest to Daughter when the full cash value of the principal residence was $900,000. Daughter does not use the property as a principal residence and, thus, does not qualify for the intergenerational transfer exclusion. Therefore, the intergenerational transfer exclusion is removed in its entirety. Since 50 percent of the real property was transferred from Son to Daughter, a transfer between siblings for which no exclusion applies, 50 percent of the real property is reassessed. That amount is $450,000 ($900,000 full cash value multiplied by the 50 percent interest sold to Daughter). Additionally, the $670,000 new base year value established at the time of the transfer multiplied by the 2 percent adjustment for three years is equal to $711,009. This amount must be multiplied by the percent of the real property retained by former eligible transferees (Daughter's 30 percent), which is equal to $213,303. Finally, the portion of the factored base year value of Parent's retained 20 percent interest is $31,836 ($159,181 multiplied by 20 percent). Therefore, the New Taxable Value upon removal of the exclusion of the principal residence is $695,139 ($213,303 plus $450,000 plus $31,836).

(C) Any son-in-law or daughter-in-law of the parent or parents. For the purposes of this paragraph, the relationship of parent and son-in-law or daughter-in-law shall be deemed to exist until the marriage on which the relationship is based is terminated by divorce, or, if the relationship is terminated by death, until the remarriage of the surviving son-in-law or daughter-in-law.

(14) "Transfer between grandparents and their grandchildren" means a transfer from a grandparent or grandparents to their grandchild or grandchildren or a transfer from a grandchild or grandchildren to their grandparent or grandparents.

(f) Filing.

(1) To request the intergenerational transfer exclusion, an eligible transferor and eligible transferee shall file a claim form, designed by the State Board of Equalization, with the county assessor in the county in which the principal residence is located.

(A) The claim form shall include a written certification signed and made under penalty of perjury, of the following:

- (i) that the transferee is a parent, child, grandparent, or grandchild of the transferor and that the transferor is their parent, child, grandparent, or grandchild.
- (ii) in the case of a grandparent-grandchild transfer, that all the parents of the grandchild or grandchildren who qualify as children of the grandparents were deceased as of the date of the transfer.
- (iii) that the transferor will not file a claim to transfer the base year value of the property under section 2.1, subdivision (b) of article XIII A of the California Constitution.
- (iv) that the real property is the transferor's principal residence or family farm; and
- (v) that the real property is or will become within one year the transferee's principal residence or family farm, the property will continue to be the principal residence or the family farm of an eligible transferee, and the eligible transferee will notify the assessor if the real property is no longer the principal residence or the family farm of an eligible transferee.

(B) The claim form may be filed and the certification made by the transferor's or eligible transferee's legal representative, the trustee of the transferor's or eligible transferee's trust, or the executor or administrator of the transferor's or eligible transferee's estate.

(C) If there are multiple transferees, the claim form may be filed and the certification made by any one of the eligible transferees.

(D) The claimant shall provide substantiation of any matter certified pursuant to this paragraph at the request of the county assessor.

(2) Except as provided in paragraph (3), any claim under this section shall be filed within three years after the date of the transfer of real property for which the claim is filed, or prior to transfer of the real property to a third party, whichever is earlier. However, a claim shall be deemed to be timely filed if it is filed within six months after the date of mailing of a notice of supplemental or escape assessment, issued as a result of the transfer of real property for which the claim is filed.

Example 9: Parent transfers their principal residence to Child on March 1, 2021. The property is also the principal residence of Child. Child files a claim for the homeowners' exemption and the intergenerational transfer exclusion claim form at the time of the transfer. The filing requirements have been satisfied and, as long as Child meets all other eligibility requirements, the New Taxable Value as of March 1, 2021, will be calculated pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section.

Example 10: Parent transfers their principal residence to Child on March 1, 2021. The property is also the principal residence of Child. Child does not file a claim for the homeowners' exemption at the time of transfer, but files the homeowners' exemption and intergenerational transfer exclusion claim forms on February 1, 2022. A change in ownership will be processed as of March 1, 2021, and a new base year value established as of that date. Assuming Child meets all other eligibility requirements, a New Taxable Value as calculated in subdivision (c) of this section will be restored as of March 1, 2021, and Child shall be entitled to a refund of property taxes previously paid or a cancellation of taxes previously owed between March 1, 2021 and January 31, 2022. Child must file a claim for refund to receive a refund.

Example 11: Parent transfers their principal residence to Child on March 1, 2021. The property is also the principal residence of Child. Child files a claim for the homeowners' exemption at the time of the transfer. A change in ownership will be processed as of March 1, 2021, and a new base year value established as of that date. Assuming Child meets all other eligibility requirements, a New Taxable Value as calculated in subdivision (c) of this section will be restored as of March 1, 2021, and Child shall be entitled to a refund of property taxes previously paid or a cancellation of taxes previously owed between March 1, 2021 and February 28, 2023. Child must file a claim for refund to receive a refund.

Example 12: Parent transfers their principal residence to Child on March 1, 2021. The property is also the principal residence of Child. Child files a claim for the homeowners' exemption at the time of the transfer. Child does not file an intergenerational transfer exclusion form and receives a notice of supplemental assessment on April 1, 2025. As long as Child files the exclusion claim form within six months of April 1, 2025, and meets all other eligibility requirements, the principal residence will be assessed at its New Taxable Value as of March 1, 2021, calculated pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section. Child shall be entitled to a refund of property taxes previously paid or a cancellation of taxes previously owed between March 1, 2021 and March 31, 2025. Child must file a claim for refund to receive a refund.

(3) If the principal residence has not been transferred to a third party, a claim for exclusion filed subsequent to the expiration of the filing periods set forth in paragraph (2) shall be considered by the assessor; however,

(A) Any exclusion granted pursuant to that claim shall apply commencing with the lien date of the assessment year in which the claim is filed.

(B) Under any exclusion granted pursuant to that claim, the value of the real property upon which property taxes shall be based in the assessment year described in subparagraph (A) is the factored base year value calculated with full cash value determined as the date the property first qualified for the intergenerational transfer exclusion.

Example 13: Parent transfers their principal residence to Child on March 1, 2021. The property is also the principal residence of Child. Child files a claim for the homeowners' exemption at the time of the transfer. Child receives a notice of supplemental assessment on April 1, 2022, and files the exclusion claim form one year later, on April 1, 2023. Assuming Child meets all other eligibility requirements, the principal residence will be assessed at its New Taxable Value on March 1, 2021, as calculated pursuant to subdivision (c) of this rule, adjusted for inflation factor increases pursuant to subdivision (a) of section 51 of the Revenue and Taxation Code.

(4) For purposes of this subdivision, a transfer of real property to a parent or child of the transferor shall not be considered a transfer to a third party.
