Subject: Building Update - July 25, 2008

Employees may notice that Hygiene Tech, our contracted Certified Industrial Hygienists, is performing air quality testing in each of our elevator cars this afternoon. Each car is being tested individually, and each test should take approximately five minutes. This testing is not anticipated to cause any significant disruption to headquarters operations. Reports from these tests will be made available on our Building Assessment Website as they are received. Thank you for your continued cooperation.
