Description of Issues:

I am gravely concerned about the erosion of the protections given to homeowners by Proposition 13. I am old enough to remember the distress my parents had about losing their home to the combination of inflation and high taxes. My father was a school teacher with a modest income. It's sad to think that a person who has worked their whole life to own the security of owning their own home, then retire, and then live in fear that they could lose their home because they cannot pay their property taxes with their fixed retirement income. Please don't let this ever happen again.
